Northeast Center Wins Over Reddies in Final Quarter

Fumbled Punt Paves Way for 18 to 7 Victory Here Thursday

MISS OPPORTUNITIES

Big Henderson Team Unable to Provide Punch Near Goal Line

By LEONARD ELLIS

The Northeast Center LSU football team of Monroe, La., came from behind to score two touchdowns in the final quarter to defeat Henderson State Teachers College, 18 to 7, before approximately 3000 fans here Thursday night.

Henderson led, 7 to 6, until about the middle of the last quarter when Buddy Parker of Henderson fumbled a punt and Northeast Center recovered on the five yard line. In two attempts, Halbrook Short plunged the line and went across to give Louisiana the lead. Attempt to kick the extra point failed.

With one minute to go, Short intercepted Tip King's pass in midfield and ran 50 yards to score Louisiana's third touchdown. Attempt to kick the extra point again failed.

The First Quarter

Henderson took the opening kickoff and after Vander plungered for a first down Parker punted to the Northeast Center 20. Meeks punted back to Henderson's 35. Parker passed to Reese for 15 yards, and on the next play Meeks of Northeast Center intercepted a pass in midfield and ran to the Henderson 15 yard line. Meeks hit the line for 10 to put the ball on the five yard line where Westbrook, Northeast Center fullback, plunked over for the touchdown. Attempt to kick for the extra point failed.

About the middle of the quarter a poor punt gave Henderson the ball on Louisiana's 20 where the Reddies moved it up to the eight yard line. Louisiana stiffened and held. The balance of the quarter was played near midfield.

Reddies Score

In the second quarter Henderson advanced to within the 15 yard line twice, failing on each attempt to score. Late in the second quarter Parker of the Reddies took a punt on his own 35 and returned to Louisiana's 30 where a pass to Turner moved it to the 20 and then line plays by Parker and Turner moved it to the two yard line where Ralph James plunged across for Henderson's first touchdown. Freeman Stone kicked the extra point to put Henderson ahead, 7 to 6 at the half.

Reddies Miss Opportunities

The third quarter was scoreless which saw both teams resort to punting frequently. Late in the third period Henderson recovered a fumble on the Louisiana 20. Sturgis plunked for a five and then Coach Grow sent in a new backfield. Three attempts to make the other five yards failed. It was one of several scoring opportunities the Reddies muffed within a short distance from the goal line. In the second quarter, Henderson blocked a punt and Jack Turner recovered on the LSU 12-yard line. It was a scoring opportunity, but the Reddies lacked the punch.

Again late in the second quarter, Feeley, Parker and Turner advanced to the 1-foot line where the Reddies failed to score. The Reddies were within 10 yards of pay dirt in the opening quarter, but line plays failed to click.

Former Bobcats

Five former Bobcats were in the starting lineup for Henderson, Dick Moore, Freeman Stone, Hugh Reese and Percy Ramsey in the line and Jack Turner in the backfield. R. C. Kennedy, another Hope boy, got into the game a few minutes later. All gave a good account of themselves.

Probably the outstanding performer of the night was Appar (No. 4) end for the LSU team. His defense work especially was brilliant as he broke up the Henderson offense time after time. Leatherwood and Short, LSU half backs, led the Louisiana team on most of its running plays.

Starting Lineups:

Henderson	LSU NE
Ramsey	Anders
Moore	Left end
Freeman	Left tackle
Holloman	Left guard
Laeve	Center
Pittman	Right guard
Perry	Right tackle
Tipton	Right end
Semago	Quarterback
Hutchins	Right half
Meeks	Fullback

Summary

First downs: Henderson 16; Northeast Center 9. Henderson attempted 12 passes, completed four and three were intercepted, one for a touchdown. Louisiana attempted eight passes, completed three and one was intercepted. Louisiana lost 30 yards on penalties and Henderson 35. Scoring: Touchdowns for Henderson, James, for Northeast Center, Short two, West-

62 Are Indicted in WPA Scandal

Grand Jury Charges Political Use of Funds in New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(P)—A federal grand jury returned indictments against 62 persons Thursday for conspiracy to violate the federal WPA laws in New Mexico. Among those accused were Stanley W. P. Miller, assistant United States district attorney and scores of men and women of high political place in state and federal government.

Eleven other indictments were returned charging political discrimination against WPA labor, diversion of WPA funds and services and illegal political activities.

Federal Judge Colin Neblett ordered the United States marshal to arrest the 73 defendants and bring them to court Tuesday morning to make bond.

Besides Miller, who is son-in-law of United States Senator Dennis Chavez, the indicted included: Mrs. Anita Tafava, his daughter; his sister, his cousin, Salomon Chavez, his nephew, Salomon Tafava; Mrs. J. A. Werner, wife of the Albuquerque postmaster; Mariano Werner, the postmaster's brother; Fred G. Healy, former state WPA administrator; Fred Sganzi, head of the state Drivers' License Bureau; Joe Martinez, secretary to Senator Chavez; Richard Duran of the Department of Internal Revenue, and scores of WPA administrative employees.

A maximum penalty of two years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine may be imposed on persons convicted on the conspiracy charges.

The indictments charged the defendants conspired for the purpose of "joint and unified political activity and to build a duplicitous organization in Albuquerque."

They charged that contributions were demanded of WPA employees for political purposes, and that threats and intimidation had been employed to compel workers to "join with defendants" in their political activity.

It was charged that WPA employees were forced to vote according to political demands in a state-wide election last September on amendments to the state constitution, and that discharge from work projects was the penalty for refusal to perform political services.

Both teams will be seeking their fifth wins in six starts. The Bobcats opened the season with a surprising 9 to 7 win over the Golden Tornado of Haynesville, La., and since then have emerged with decisions over Clarksville, 35 to 6; Smackover 19-0, and Do-Queen 20-0, losing to Jonesboro last Friday night 33 to 12.

Enthusiasm High as Hope-Nashville Grid Battle Nears

Nashville Prepares to Take Care of Record Crowd

SPECIAL TRAIN 6:15

Both Teams Reported to Be in Good Shape for Contest

NASHVILLE, Ark.—Enthusiasm runs high in Nashville on the eve of the biggest football game of the year, as the Scrappers prepare to engage their ancient foe, the Hope Bobcats, Friday night on Scrapper Field. The two teams face the opening kickoff at 8 p. m.

The occasion at hand is one for which football fandom of this section has waited for weeks. The Hope-Nashville feud being one of the most highly regarded in the state.

The game will hold double significance for Nashville fans, as it has been designated "Bo Sherman Night" as well as the annual Homecoming. Since local fans consider this the outstanding clash of the year, it was selected as the ideal time for "Bo Sherman Night" in a gesture of appreciation for what the Scrapper pilot has done in giving the town a winning team.

Plan Ceremonies

The Nashville-Hope encounter has long been set aside as Homecoming, as it has proved the best drawing card of the year. The Homecoming ceremony will be staged before the start of the game, at which time the queen will be crowned in due pomp and splendor. The queen, elected to reign over the celebration, is Miss Lucille McCaskill, and her attendants from the various classes are Miss Winnie Jo Chesshire, senior; Miss Dorothy Jean Reese, junior; Miss Imogene Hutchinson, sophomore; and Miss Johnnie Lee Martin, freshman; Miss Ora Jean Ball, grammar school.

Another part of the program will be dedicated to the memories of the late Russell Brown and Guy Payne in a tribute to the two former Scrapper stars, preceding the game.

Loud speaker facilities have been arranged and announcements by this method will prove of great benefit to the fans in enjoying the night's festivities.

It is expected that the largest crowd of the season will be on hand for the fray, as football fans throughout this section have always displayed a keen interest in the outcome. A special train will be run from Hope for the benefit of those who are hesitant toward tackling the highway, but doubtless, many more will come by way of automobile.

Modern 'Secrets' Held by Ancients

Dr. John T. Morris, Archaeologist, Tells Rotary of 5,000 Years Ago

The fundamental comforts and knowledge on which the modern world prides itself were, without exception, known to the people who inhabited the earth 5,000 years ago. Dr. John T. Morris, of Baltimore, Md., associated with the American School of Oriental Research, told Hope Rotary club Friday noon at Hotel Barlow.

Dr. Morris, who is closing a series of lectures at First Presbyterian church Friday, said that archaeology, "the science of ancient things," has established such astonishing truths as these:

1. The people living along the Euphrates river 5,000 years ago were as familiar with bathtubs as the most civilized people of A. D. 1938.

2. Even those in modern circumstances ate their meals from dishes of unalloyed gold.

3. They shaved themselves with razors of tempered copper, that held a better edge than the finest steel—and the secret of tempering copper is lost, and no amount of modern research thus far has been able to unlock this secret of the ancients.

4. In every home 5,000 years ago, a room was set aside for private worship.

5. The ancients had a complete system of mails, and used regular postage stamps, between points on the Euphrates river and the Mediterranean—1,750 years before Abraham was born.

6. They knew all the fundamentals of architecture. The skill previously credited to the Greeks in building the Parthenon in 420 B. C. belonged to the people of 5,000 years ago, including the construction of the so-called Roman arch.

7. The ancients had stock-broker offices.

8. There is a clear record that 5,000 years ago the surgeons of that day made a regular practice of removing catarracts from the human eye, using tempered-copper instruments—and so well recognized was this practice that the law of that ancient land provided severe penalties for any surgeon who injured the eye while making the operation.

9. No archaeological discovery ever has contradicted the facts of the Bible.

10. Wherever history has attempted to contradict the Bible archaeology eventually has proven history to be wrong and the Bible to be right.

Dr. Morris was introduced by the Rev. Thomas Brewster on a program sponsored by A. B. Patton.

Guests besides Dr. Morris were: Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Beasley of Texarkana, and R. P. Dawson of Memphis, Tenn.

'Shutdown Threat' to Beat Labor Act Is Hit by Andrews

Intimidation Suspected by U. S. Wage & Hour Administrator

TWO PLANTS CLOSING

Earle (Ark.) and Columbus (Miss.) Lumberman to Suspend

WASHINGTON.—(P)—Elmer F. Andrews, wage & hour administrator, hit out Friday at industries which he said intended to shut down Monday to avoid compliance with the new fair labor standards act.

These suspensions of operations seem to have been timed in an effort to bring the law into disrepute, evidently with the hope of intimidating the wage & hour division and its administration of the law's provisions," Andrews said in a statement.

Saw Mills Close

EARLE, Ark.—(P)—Luther Wallin, operator of saw mills here and at Columbus, Miss., said Friday that lumber plants can not operate profitably under the wage & hour law and that he is suspending operations at both plants Saturday night.

(The federal wage & hour law becomes effective Monday, October 24.) The mill here is Earle's only industry except cotton gins.

Wallin said about 100 men would be affected here.

Spa Boat Landing Operator Is Linked to Karpis Conspiracy

But Witnesses, on Cross-Examination, Admit Gangsters Did Nothing to Disclose Their True Identity

LITTLE ROCK.—(P)—The government attempted Friday to link Mrs. Al C. Dyer, handsome widow, operator of a boat landing and cottage camp on the lakes near Hot Springs, and her caretaker, in the alleged plot charged to seven Hot Springs residents to harbor the notorious Alvin Karpis in the summer of 1935.

Through witnesses who identified photographs the prosecution told the jury of ten men and two women who are trying the seven in federal district court that Karpis and Fred Hunter, one of the henchmen, rented a cottage at Dyer's landing for several weeks that summer.

On cross-examination the government witnesses testified that the landing catered to a high class clientele, and that the men identified as Karpis and Hunter gave no evidence of their true identities.

Mrs. Irma Mae Floyd, of Arkadelphia, testified she worked as a waitress at Wilson's tavern, outside of Hot Springs, and that Mrs. Grace Goldstein, one of the defendants, came there to dine with a man who gave her a $20 tip. She was not asked to identify the photographs.

Linked With Police

LITTLE ROCK.—A government witness testified in United States District Court Thursday that he saw Alvin Karpis, who then was Public Enemy No. 1, and Fred Hunter, his lieutenant, leave the Hot Springs apartment of Mrs. Grace Goldstein hurriedly one night during the summer of 1935 after a conference with Herbert "Dutch" Akers, then Hot Springs chief of detectives and Police Chief Joseph Wakelin.

The witness, Mrs. Joseph Armenia of 125 Palm street, said she lived next door to the apartment occupied for about two months by Mrs. Goldstein and several girls and that the gangsters frequented her place regularly for several weeks during that period. She added she saw Akers, Wakelin and Cecil Brock, former police lieutenant, at the apartment during this time.

Mrs. Armenia was the last of 15 witnesses, presented by the government during the third day of the Karpis harboring conspiracy trial in an effort to prove that the gangsters were protected during their stay in the resort city in 1935 and 1936.

Saw Fugitives With

Mrs. Armenia testified that on the occasion she mentioned Akers and Wakelin came up in a police car about dark and sounded the horn. Two men whom she later identified as Karpis and Hunter came out in their shirt sleeves, she said, and talked with the police officers.

"The men then went back into the house as fast as they could go, got their coats and hats and beat it in their own car parked in the driveway," she testified.

Rooksberry Fights His Ouster Move

Maintains State Unemployment Post Never Was Vacated

LITTLE ROCK.—In a telegram received by State Labor Commissioner Ed I. McKinley Thursday, W. A. Rooksberry, who was ousted as director of the State Unemployment Compensation Division by Mr. McKinley Monday, said:

"I maintain that no vacancy existed in the office of director and that my status has not legally been changed."

The telegram was sent from Washington, where Mr. Rooksberry was representing the state at an interstate conference on the work of administering the unemployment compensation law, when he was replaced by Commissioner McKinley, with approval of Governor Bailey.

Mr. McKinley appointed Eli W. Collins to the directorship. He said that a vacancy had existed in the office of director since the posting of an eligible list for the position of director, and that Mr. Rooksberry had been serving on a temporary basis pending appointment of a permanent director.

Mr. Rooksberry, who had headed the division since its creation early in 1937, ranked first on the eligible list. Mr. Collins ranked fifth.

Former Film Star Plunges to Death

Dorothy Hale Once Rumored Engaged to Hopkings, Chief of WPA

NEW YORK.—(P)—Dorothy Hale, motion picture actress, plunged to death early Friday from a window of her 16th floor room in the Hampshire house, exclusive hotel overlooking Central park.

Mrs. Hale, who a few years ago was described by a Hollywood producer as a "great movie find," was the widow of the late Garner Hale, Chicago muralist.

Detective James Leech, who made the preliminary investigation, said the actress may have fallen from the window when she attempted to open it after she returned to her room at 6:20 a. m.

Reports that Mrs. Hale was engaged to Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, were denied last summer. Among the outstanding pictures in which Mrs. Hale appeared was "Catherine the Great."

Irresistible Japs Sweep Into Main City South China

"Utter Confusion" Reported as Southern Metropolis Falls

PLANTS DYNAMITED

On Central Front, Japanese Advance on Hankow, Capital

By the Associated Press

Sweeping forward with evidently irresistible power, Japanese forces Friday entered Canton, vital South China supply capital.

"Utter confusion" as the invaders pierced Canton's first defense was reported in advices from Hong Kong, British crown colony.

Government officials fled from Yungun, 92 miles north. A cement plant, power plant, and other major utilities, were dynamited—China's "scorched earth" policy leaving nothing useful behind.

The Chinese sent a flood of floating mines down the angze river to hold off Japanese gunboats, which were said to have passed Ocheng, 35 miles from Hankow.

Land forces on the south bank were said to have captured Tayoh, 40 miles southeast of Hankow, and pushed on to the iron mining district nearer the capital.

The Japanese declared their northern column had taken Kishue, important Chinese outpost 55 miles from Hankow.

New Czech-Hungarian Move

BUDAPEST, Hungary.—(P)—A new Czechoslovak offer to settle Hungary's demands for Czech minorities was said Friday to be more liberal than any of the three previous proposals, but was still unacceptable.

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia.—(P)—The war ministry, in collaboration with the Red Cross, Friday ordered relief sent to three groups of Jewish refugees reported to be suffering pitifully in the fields nearer Breclav.

Television Ready for Private Home

Commercial Sets to Appear, But National Broadcast Delayed

NEW YORK.—(P)—Television finally is ready for home use, David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, announced Thursday. He said his company was ready to market receivers. Other manufacturers were expected to follow suit.

Sarnoff told the board of directors of the Radio Manufacturers association that television field tests conducted in the New York area by RCA and its associate, the National Broadcasting Company, had "convinced us that television in the home is now technically feasible."

He said that sets and program service would be available before the opening of the New York World's Fair next April 30.

Past statements have been to the effect that a sound-sight receiver would range from $100 to $300 or more, depending on design. One company has offered a kit of parts for slightly under $100 and another has announced complete receivers without sound units at from $125 to $175.

"Many technical, artistic and financial problems," Sarnoff said, "still confront those who would establish an acceptable and regular public service of television programs to the home. These problems must be solved before a national service of network television programs can be made available to the public."

Homer Lee Kuespert Dies Here Thursday

Homer Lee Kuespert, aged 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Kuespert, Jr., of 802 South Grady street, died Thursday after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Saturday from the family residence, conducted by the Rev. W. R. Hamilton, pastor of First Baptist church.

The body will then be placed aboard a Missouri Pacific passenger train for Little Rock where burial services will be held in Oaklawn cemetery at 3:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Besides his parents, he is survived by two brothers, John Herman and Max; one sister, Frances, and his grandparents of Little Rock.

The youth's father is a clerk at the Missouri Pacific freight office.

"If there had been anyone in the driveway he would have been killed because they came out as fast as anyone I have ever seen."

"I never saw them there any more because Grace moved soon afterwards."

Remark Concerning Payoff
Previously she testified that Akers came by to see Mrs. Goldstein "every Monday night about dusk dark."

After one such visit, Mrs. Armenia said she overheard Mrs. Goldstein remark, "I have just paid off $25 so you girls will have to get busy."

Asked by United States Attorney Fred A. Isgrig as to the relationship between Akers and Mrs. Goldstein, Mrs. Armenia replied:

"It seemed more like business."

She said she later saw Mrs. Goldstein and Karpis driving down Central avenue in the gangster's black Ford coupe.

Grover T. Owens, defense lawyer, drew from Mrs. Armenia the statement that Akers began his weekly visits to the Goldstein apartment several weeks before Karpis and Hunter came into the picture.

Roy F. Armenia, son of Mrs. Armenia, preceded her to the stand to testify that he saw Akers and Wakelin visit the Goldstein apartment three or four times during the period Mrs. Goldstein occupied it, sometimes going in and sometimes remaining out in the car. He said he had seen Karpis' car parked out in front of the apartment several times.

Auto Salesman Thought Akers and Karpis 'Buddies'
Oscar Pope, owner of Las Cruces, N. M., former Hot Springs automobile salesman, said he had seen Akers and Karpis together so much during the summer of 1935 that he inquired of Akers, Cooper, former Hot Springs police captain, "if they hadn't become buddies." He said Cooper made no reply.

He said that one one occasion he had seen Akers and Karpis together at the Hot Springs liquor and cigar store and at another time had observed them driving around together.

Emphasizing his responses to questions put him by government and defense attorneys, Mr. Pope explained the reason he remembered the man he later was told was Karpis was that he had attempted unsuccessfully to sell him a car and had left him experiencing the sensation of "cold chills running up and down his back" from some unknown cause.

He said the reason he had approached Karpis was that he had seen him frequently with Grace Goldstein.

"I had just sold Grace a car," he said. "I figured if she got good service out of her car, he (Karpis) probably would be a good prospect."

He said that one one occasion he had seen Akers and Karpis together at the Hot Springs liquor and cigar store and at another time had observed them driving around together.

Yesterday's taxi driver is knifed in the old factory building where Tait is called and Tait wonders about the perfume there, the same scent as used by the strange, exotic blond.

CHAPTER XVII

At the first stair landing, Tait paused. The light, he discovered, came from a candle set on the floor in its own wax. He reached down and touched the wax in which it had been stuck.
It was still warm and soft!

Tait stood up quickly, his back against the wall. The landing was bare. There were no openings.
It simply doubled back to reach another series of stairs to the next floor. The stair well was typical of those built into the factories of two decades ago when modern health and fire protection weren't considered.

Cautiously, Tait peered up to that second landing. For a moment his heart wavered. It all seemed too much of an invitation to death —and yet—he could be very close to the murder of Ludden Dombey and the solution for Myrna's problems. Suddenly he snatched up the candle, snuffing it out as he did so. In one swift movement he leaped for the second series of stairs, holding an arm ahead of him in the darkness. Every moment he expected to feel in his flesh the cold steel of a blade either thrown or driven.

Then, unmistakably, he heard a sound above him. It was the opening of an ancient window. Tait yelled at the top of his voice:
"Stop—stop or I'll shoot!" He followed the sound upstairs and into a long, deserted room with narrow windows at one end. One of the windows was open and Tait rushed for it. But beyond he could see nothing but black roofs.
It was only three or four feet down to the adjoining roof, but he knew that he was stopped. To go out there would be inviting death in earnest. Keeping out of line of the windows, he relighted the candle. The room was absolutely deserted. A few machine bases were all the evidence that it had once held life, and certainly no one had been making a home of it.

In the dim light of the candle Tait noticed something odd. His own footprints were clearly visible on the dust-covered floor. But the path of the would-be mur-derer was of a different nature.
It had been swept as he went, as if with a coat or scarf. Tait thought bitterly that the factory roofs were gravel on tar. There'd be no footprint there.

Grimly disappointed, he retraced his steps to the street. The astonished stare of the taxi driver sought him from the depths of the cab. "I never thought you'd be down here again on your feet, mister!" He was holding his shoulder now painfully. "Did you see anything of that so-and-so who sliced me?"

Tait shook his head. "No. And I'm sorry to have got you into this mess, old man. I'll make it right with you—and now we'll get some attention for that shoulder."

"You'll have to drive. And say, if I gotta stay in the hospital all night you'll have to explain it to my wife. She's funny that way."

Tait slid into the driver's seat.
"I'll keep you out of the doghouse, pal."

"You were," said Dannie Feeley,
"a double-barreled idiot to go up those stairs. But by golly, as long as you did it, I wish you'd got a look at the bird who wanted to cut into you."

Feeley and Tait were on the way to the hospital where the taxi driver had been left in good care.
"It's that perfume that gets me," Tait said.

"Yeah. Doesn't seem like a spot a woman would pick to make an ambush for a guy. But there may have been two people around. You say you smelled it before. You sure you'd recognize the dame if you saw her again?"

"I'll say I would! She was a honey."

"Of course," said Feeley with ill-disguised feeling, "some men wear perfume. The guy we're after may be one of those. Do you figure this fellow is the same guy who ventilated Ludden Dombey?"

"Maybe. Or it might be somebody who just doesn't like the idea of my monkeying around."

"As for instance?"

"Harris Rogers,"

FEELEY nodded. "There's that.
He promised you that you'd hear from him, and he has a reason to be plenty sore. I'll have Mike Dunphy see if he can establish any movements for Rogers."

"Also, it could be your screwy finishings of great beauty."

Dr. Morris has been revealing startling facts about the Bible and the civ-ilizations of the ancient past. It has been stated that these lectures have been of wonderful educational value confirming our faith in the statements of the Bible, and showing that, despite the efforts of many people to disprove the Bible, excavations have proved that the Bible means exactly what it says, and is literally true.

Among the rare and interesting pictures which Dr. Morris showed Thursday night before a large audience were animals of tremendous size found fossils in the ice in the north Polar regions with their flesh in perfect condition, with tropical grass still locked firmly in their teeth, and the grass is reported by the scientists to have been in each case a perfect botanical specimen.

Scientists say that these animals were eating tropical grass, in a tropical climate in regions near the North Pole, when the position of the earth musician. He might think that I'm out to gyp him, too."

"We'll go down to that factory building tomorrow and have a look at it in the daytime," Feeley rolled the car up before the wide steps of the General Hospital. "De-you think this taxi driver'll help us any?"

"I doubt it. I was sitting right in the car and it happened too fast for me. He didn't seem to know what hit him—but it's worth a try.
Maybe he's collected his wits by now."

The pair were ushered to the driver's room by a nurse. At sight of Tait the man burst out, "Say did you telephone my wife like I told you?"

Tait laughed. "I certainly did and she believed me, too."

"I wish she'd believe me once in a while," sighed the injured man.

"This is Detective Feeley. He wants to ask you some questions about what happened. That is, if you feel all right now."

"I'm okay. The doc' fixed me up in good shape. But I don't remember nothing except the flash of that knife—and the way it felt when it hit me."

"Try hard," Feeley urged.
"Didn't you see the arm? Couldn't you tell whether your assailant wore a long coat or a short one?
When you struck the match didn't you see a face or a hat?"

THE taxi driver wrinkled his brow. "No-o. . . . You see, I just struck the match and I was lookin' up at the top of the doorway for the number. I—kind of seems like the guy wore a long overcoat, but I don't know just how I got that idea. I'm sure I didn't see his mug."

"Tait here says he smelled perfume distinctly. Did you?"

"Perfume?" The man looked puzzled. "No, I don't think I smelled any perfume. But then my nose ain't so good, either."

Feeley sighed, and cast an oblique glance at Tait.

"I wish I could be more helpful. But the fact is, it just happened so quick I don't know exactly how it was. I got a couple of slices and I dropped flat—maybe I was only scared. I just laid there on the pavement with that damn cat meowin' somewhere around me."

Tait started. "A cat? You heard a cat meowing?"

"Yeah, I think so."

"Was it before or after you got knifed that you heard it?"

"Well. . . . I can't be sure, but it seems to me like it started just when I struck the match."

Tait looked at Feeley. "Ever hear of 'The Cat's Meow'?"

was changed suddenly bringing seasons upon the earth, frigid weather at the North Pole and the down pour of rain at the time of the flood of Noah's day. The sudden terrific cold froze the animals still standing up, locked their jaws with the grass in their teeth, and the water froze around them and enclosed in great depths of ice and preserved them perfectly till the present day.

Dr. Morris pointed out that the discovery of these animals confirms the statements of the scriptures as to the climate and marvelous vegetation until the flood, and that God made everything perfect in the beginning but that it has been ruined by the sin of disobedience of man.

This has opportunity to look upon the doings of man before history began.

Chevrolet Master 85 Town Sedan

Chevrolet Master 85 Town Sedan

Speed, graceful beauty characterizes this five-passenger two-door Town Sedan, one of the new models which Chevrolet presents to the public Saturday.

New Chevrolet Four-Passenger Coupe

Chevrolet's new models, making their public bow today, feature this new body style which combines utility and beauty. Hinged to the rear-quarter wall behind the front seats are two opera seats which may be used for passengers or folded against the wall to make room for luggage. There is also a commodious rear deck.

Sleek new aero-stream bodies suggesting fleetness and luxury combine with numerous mechanical advancements, at least two of which are major in character, to assure keen public interest in the new 1939 Chevrolet, which makes its formal bow Saturday in 10,000 dealers' showrooms from coast to coast.

The two new Chevrolet series, designed by Harley Earl, are offered as embodying not only distinctive style but an even finer aggregate of performance, safety and comfort characteristics than that which made their predecessors sales leaders in 1938. Two models . . . a Master 85 business coupe available on both chassis . . . are added for 1939, the sport coupe and cabriolet being discontinued.

The major mechanical improvements for 1939 are the new vacuum gear-shifting steering column control, optional on both new perfect Kneecap Action riding system on the Master DeLuxe. This improvement includes an entirely new Kneecap Action mechanism, triple-tested, precision-built, and tailored to a unit to the car, to assure maximum riding comfort over all roads.

The power plant in both series is the time-proven Chevrolet 85-horsepower high-compression six-cylinder valve-in-head engine, in which refinements introduced in 1938 are continued, and additional refinements resulting in greater economy, durability, and ease of servicing, incorporated for 1939. Improvements have been made in the ignition and oiling systems, the carburetor, the intake manifold, thermostat control, the harmonic balancer, which is now floated in rubber, and the cooling system, which now has a self-adjusting permanently lubricated ball-bearing water pump. The diaphragm-type Topco-matic Clutch introduced for 1938 is continued with improvements, chief of which is new provision for ventilation.

Outwardly, the new Chevrolet is longer and lower in appearance. This is accomplished by the new design of fenders, wheels, running boards, and hood, as well as by a new window treatment. The lower corners of the latter appear practically square, thus effecting a continuous straight-line appearance at the bottom of the side windows.

The hood extends forward from the cowl in a smooth, unbroken surface, curving down gracefully at the front to meet the new radiator grille. The new construction of the top and side panels, from a single piece of sheet steel without hinged or riveted joint, accentuates its clean-cut sleekness.

New and larger headlamps are cradled in the valleys between fender crowns and hood, being mounted directly to low fenders embossed in the fenders themselves. The lamps are longer, larger in diameter, farther apart and closer to the front end in 1938, and their new lenses, light more of the road. The new mounting makes them less vulnerable to damage, and reduces service costs in the event of excessive damage to fenders. Horizontal and vertical adjustment of the beam is simple and positive, being accomplished from outside, above the fender.

The 1939 wheels are new. They have four wide spokes instead of eight narrow ones, as in 1938, and their design is flatter. There is a 1/2 inch less distance between the tire wall and the hub cap crown, a feature which not only accentuates the flatness of the wheel but protects the hub caps from flying gravel and from marring against high curbs. The cap is easier to remove, too, its lock spring being more flexible.

Changes in the body proper add much to the appearance of fleetness, unity and length. Elimination of the speedline permits carrying the side panels straight up, giving slightly more width through the cowl. In sport sedans an down sedans the rear side panels carry back through the trunk in a smooth plane.

A new combination tail-and-stop lamp is part of all models except the sedan, coach and station wagon. Of streamlined, teardrop shape, to harmonize with the headlamps, this lamp has one bulb of twin-flame type—one filament of three candle-power, for tail light, and one of 21 candle-power for stop light—instead of two three-candle-power bulbs as in 1938. Lenses of these lamps are of the dioptric type, which means that they concentrate a majority of the available light rays besides functioning as reflectors to approaching headlights, should the bulb burn out. The lamps are located higher than heretofore, and in their new position enhance the car's appearance, besides being more readily visible to other drivers, and less vulnerable to damage.

Luxurious comfort is joined with beauty of appointments in the new Chevrolet interiors. Increased windshield area, re-location of instruments and controls, and several other refinements add to the safety of driver and occupants, supplementing the safety contribution made by new mechanical features. Color and texture of the upholstery are unchanged, but there is a new trim design, employing vertical piping on seat cushion and backs.

Brushing-back mohair velvet upholstery is standard in both series, a luxurious broadcloth, with a texture like that of Bedford cord being available as an option in the Master DeLuxe.

The driver's compartment is greatly improved, not only from the standpoint of operating ease but from that of comfort as well. Where advantage is taken of the vacuum gearshift option, the floor is entirely cleared, and three can ride with ease in the front seat. The handbrake lever is removed from its old location at the right of the driver, and placed under the cowl at his left. Instruments are regrouped, with controls almost at the driver's fingertips. There is a flush-type lock on the glove compartment, and the hand control knobs are recessed below in the center panel of the dash. Colors of the instrument panel, of various knobs and control handles, and all interior trim, harmonize with that of the upholstery, making the interior a restful ensemble with maximum eye appeal.

OUR DAY OF REST

Text: Exodus 20:8-11; Luke 13:10-17

Our lesson very properly emphasizes two aspects of the Sabbath, or the day of rest, which, as the first day of the week instead of the seventh, has followed out the same principle in Christendom.

We have, first of all, the Commandment concerning the Sabbath Day, emphasizing its holiness and enjoining

Card of Thanks

We sincerely thank our many friends for the kindness shown us during our recent bereavement and also for the beautiful floral offerings.

Jim and Frances James Lou Cornelius.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness shown us during the illness and death of our mother, Mrs. Margaret Wood.

We wish to especially thank the employees of the Williams Lumber company for their deeds of kindness.

Ed Wood and family.

upon all the duty of keeping it. A day of rest ought to be holy. If it is not regarded as holy and if various things are allowed to infringe upon its sanctity, for gain, pleasure, or con-it senses to exist at all—as it has in venience, the result is that before long large measure ceased to exist for great multitudes of people in this modern world.

The situation would be much worse than it is were it not that some renants of sanctity still attach to the day of rest. The principle is recognized, even if it is not followed; and this fact has led to certain protective laws and regulations or agreements, apart from laws, which have had the aim of establishing to every worker at least one day in seven as a day of rest.

It is doubtful whether, in our modern world and under modern conditions, a day of rest could be observed with the completeness that was possible in the primitive life and organization of Jewish society. There are problems to be met today that could not be easily solved, even if the economic aspect were disregarded.

But there is nothing in the modern situation that in any respect affects the possibility of some weekly day of rest for every worker. In fact, it might be said that the conditions of modern economic life make this more feasible than ever before.

The need of recognizing and maintaining the Sabbath Day principle ought not need emphasis. It is a principle sound in health, sound in economics, and sound in its social aspects.

But the Sabbath principle ought to be established in terms of rest and welfare, and not in terms of arbitrary requirements and harsh and exacting rules and restrictions. This is what is emphasized in the New Testament conception of the Sabbath, and the use that Jesus made of it.

We know that it was His custom to go into the synagogue on the Sabbath Day for worship, but religion and worship were not merely matters of form for Jesus but related to the doing of good and human welfare.

When Jesus, teaching in the synagogue, saw a woman crippled with years of illness, He healed her. The Ken Maynard, star of "Six-Shootin' Sheriff" which is topping the bill at the New theater Saturday, while one of the most widely read of screen stars, has a very healthy dislike of those who affect the "Literati" attitude. Ken's reading ranges all the way from the dime western magazines to Shakespeare. It is true that books about early days in the West would acquire whatever lead might fall to an individual classification, but he admits that this can be traced to his job rather than favoritism.

In magazines, his tastes show an equally wide divergence, ranging from fiction to professional publications dealing with engineering, this latter being the subject in which his college degree was granted.

Marjorie Reynolds is seen as his leading lady in this action thriller, ruler of the synagogue, a strict liter-alist, was outraged that anyone should do such a thing on the Sabbath Day; but Jesus rebuked him and reminded him that it was the greatest hypocrisy to relieve the needs and sufferings of animals on the Sabbath, and at the same time make it a breach of the Sabbath to heal human ills or disease.

He enforced the great teaching that the Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath.

Our modern society would do well to bear in mind both these principles —that humanity needs a day of rest, and that unless there is something holy attached to it, it will not have much power, hence, but also that holiness does not mean formalistic and exacting regulations that make the day a burden instead of a day of rest.

Imitation amber can be made from celluloid and Canadian balsam, but neither of these substances will become electrified by friction, as will amber.

Camden 26-6; Gurdon 13-0, and Prescott 15-7, losing only to the El Dorado Wildcats 26 to 20.

The Scrappers will be in good condition for the game and will take the field at top strength in an effort to halt the invaders.

Train Leaves 6:15 p. m.

The Hope football team, high school band, students and fans prepared to board a special train for Nashville at 6:15 p. m. The roundtrip fare is 55 cents. The train is due in Nashville shortly after 7 o'clock and will stop two blocks from the field.

All local fans are urged to ride the train to enable the athletic committee to reach its required quota of 400 tickets. The train returns to Hope immediately after the game.

The Hobart football team, Coach Foy Hammons said Friday morning, would be in the best physical shape in the past three weeks. Tackle Norman Green will be in the starting lineup, giving the squad its full strength.

Coach Hammons said his boys had drilled until dark each day the past week and were anxious to get going against their ancient rivals.

Here's Quick Relief for RASPY COUGHS

DUE TO COLDS

FIRST—put a small lump of Vicks VapoRub on your tongue and let it melt. The medication bathes the irritated membranes as it trickles down your throat—bringing comforting relief—where you want it—when you want it.

THEN—melt a spoonful of VapoRub in a bowl
of boiling water.
Breathe in the vapors for a few minutes. As these vapors work their way down through the air-passages, they loosen phlegm and ease the cough.
